Concept 2 - Presenting: Nancy H.

“The general service conference of AA has become... the active voice and effective conscience of our whole society in our world affairs.” The power of the groups and members is virtually supreme; it has been this way since the beginning. The principle of delegated authority to trusted servants must be implemented throughout the structure. Bill and Bob has authority over most of the groups’ activities. Group formed in 1938 of AA members and non-alcoholic friends. NYC was picked as a base of operations. Bill and Bob had to determine who has authority over what. In St. Louis, they made a decision that the GSC of AA was given the responsibility for maintenance of AA World Services and became the operating entity. We, as AA members, hold the reigns as was originally intended.
